

Trans-Atlantic Business Council Announces Head of Brussels Office And Staff Additions

26 May, 2014, Brussels – The Trans-Atlantic Business Council (TABC) announced today that the group has promoted Hendrike Kuehl to Head of TABC's Brussels Office. She will manage that office and spearhead policy outreach efforts with member companies, government officials, the European Parliament, other industry associations, and civil society groups. The group's Director-General/CEO, Tim Bennett is based in Washington and will continue to work from the Brussels office several times a year.

Hendrike Kuehl was previously a Policy Director for the Trans-Atlantic Business Council. In that role she coordinated policy initiatives with the members of the Council. Hendrike joined the TABC from the TransAtlantic Business Dialogue (TABD), one of the former legacy organizations of the TABC. In her role as EU Director she was responsible for the coordination of TABD's working groups and the organization of policy committee and board meetings on the EU side. Prior to joining TABD she worked as a supervisor at Psephos Institut, Hamburg, where she analyzed and evaluated political research surveys. Before acquiring her degree, Hendrike worked for Tate & Lyle Germany as a project manager in the purchase division with focus on the identification of Chinese raw materials suppliers. Hendrike holds a BA degree in European Studies from Royal Holloway, University of London.

The Brussels office added Adèle Naudy-Chambaud as a Policy Director on 19 May, 2014. Adèle will provide support to members and coordinate policy initiatives and working groups. Prior to joining TABC, she worked as European Public Affairs Director for Alstom's EU Office. In that role she was following corporate issues such as EU trade policy, public procurement, IPRs, industrial policy, and transport. Previously, Adèle worked for a Brussels-based consultancy and also has experience in the European Parliament, having worked for former MEP Gilles Savary (FR), Vice President of the Transport and Tourism committee. She holds a degree from the Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Strasbourg in France.

Hanno Woelm joined the TABC team in its Brussels office on 26 May, 2014. Hanno will serve as Policy Manager and support working group activity and policy initiatives in Brussels. Before joining TABC, Hanno worked as a public affairs consultant at APCO Worldwide in Brussels, where he advised and represented clients vis-à-vis the EU institutions in the areas of international trade and EU technology policy. Previously, Hanno worked in the Delegation of the European Union to the United States in Washington D.C., focusing on transatlantic relations and foreign policy issues. He holds a BA in European Studies from the University of Osnabrück, Germany, and a MSc in Politics and Government in the EU from the London School of Economics and Political Science.
